Little Debate In Missouri Legislature

JEFFERSON CITY—(AP)—In its closing minutes before adjournment Friday night the Missouri Legislature passed catch-all appropriation bills carrying $22,444,000.

Time ran so short there was little explanation and no debate. The bills helped to bring total appropriations to approximately $1.143 billion, far more than the $1.102 billion that the governor recommended.

Fiscal experts said that on the basis of expected revenue there would still be an unobligated balance of around $23 million, plus the safe operating balance of $20 million the legislature always provides for day-to-day operations.

Included in the final omnibus bill — which cleared the Senate two minutes after the official closing hour of midnight — was $13,352,000 to finance the state cost of Medicaid for the needy plus $216,000 to extend medical care to the blind.

The conference committees of the House and Senate also restored $21,000 to supply a communications center for radio and television use in the state capital.

This would be in addition to the two press rooms maintained there. It was restored only after pressure from the Missouri Broadcasters Association and others.

The legislature also added $266,750 for a new chemistry building at the University of Missouri's Kansas City campus and $70,000 for crippled children's research at the Columbia campus.

The catch-all bills also included $550,000 for the state to buy the abandoned Tweedie shoe factory property between the Capitol and the executive mansion, $350,000 to modernize the overloaded Capitol elevators, and $50,000 to repair the executive mansion.

Other amounts were mostly to finance legislation passed by the current session, including:

Increased junior college aid, $1,465,555.

Annual safety inspection of automobiles and trucks, $405,075.

Operation of a new state tourism agency, $360,000.

Building up the water development fund for use at federal reservoirs, $300,000.

To the Public Service Commission to finance additional duties such as supervision of sewer districts, $463,622.

New meat inspection duties for the State Department of Agriculture, $285,400.

Operation of the new State Department of Community Affairs, $187,427.

And many small claims and refunds, including $143.20 to pay the expenses of a trip former speaker, Thomas D. Graham, D-Jefferson City, took several years ago.

Although the work of the legislature ended officially at midnight Friday, the session remains open for final clerical work and the signing of bills until July 15.

The Senate plans a technical session for this purpose Friday and the House will hold a similar session Saturday.

Approaching Last Stop On His March

PICKENS, Miss. (AP) — James H. Meredith approached the last stop on his "march against fear" today with only 20 miles farther to Canton.

The 34-year-old Negro leader, plagued by an aching tendon in his ankle, walked about 16 miles Sunday before calling it quits for the day near Pickens.

He said he would end the journey at Canton, 25 miles short of the 175-mile hike to Jackson he originally had planned.

Last year at Canton, Meredith rejoined the first march he started. On that walk, he had gotten only a few miles into north Mississippi when he was wounded by an ambush shotgun blast near Hernando. He started marching this year from Hernando, 10 days ago.

About 30 persons walked Sunday with Meredith, part of the time through a steady rain.

Johnson Has the Support Of Democratic Governors

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Democratic governors emerged from a closed caucus at St. Louis over the weekend and greeted President Johnson with a statement he said was "music to my ears."

The statement put most of the governors behind the President in his domestic and foreign policies and a re-election bid, if the President so decides.

The only dissenting voices were from Louisiana Gov. John J. McKeithen and Gov. Lester Maddox of Georgia. McKeithen said he was not prepared to commit himself to any presidential candidate.

Objection On District Legislation

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—Charging the congressional redistricting bill passed by the General Assembly creates "Malapportioned districts and is contrary to the federal court decision," four Democratic state representatives have registered a constitutional objection.

The objection, released today, is embodied in a letter to Rep. James C. Godfrey, D-St. Louis, speaker of the House, who will sign the bill for that body.

The letter, signed by Reps. W. L. Meyer, D-Bellefontaine Neighbors; James P. Mulvaney, D-Jennings; Earl L. Schief, D-St. Louis; and Thomas Walsh, D-St. Louis, also charged the districts violate the Constitution of Missouri because the districts formed are not "as nearly equal in population as may be."

The objection will accompany the bill to the governor for his consideration.

Sen. Robert A. Young, D-St. Ann, said he also planned to file a constitutional objection. His area was put into the Republican 2nd district of St. Louis and St. Louis County.

Two separate constitutional objections to a bill allowing liquor by the drink at lake resorts were also released today.

Both, signed by a total of five legislators, cited a section of the constitution that provides notice must be published in any locality where a matter or thing to be affected is located. They said this was not done.

One objection charged the bill is "discriminatory and special legislation, since only certain establishments will come under the provisions of this bill." The other merely said it "provides for a local and special law."

Now only four large resorts at the Lake of the Ozarks could qualify, sponsors said.

The bill gives the privilege to resorts having at least 40 rooms with a restaurant from which over 60 per cent of the income is derived from food.

dential candidate. Maddox said he will not bolt the Democratic party in 1968, even if he decides against supporting Johnson.

The President made a short visit to St. Louis Saturday at the conclusion of the governors caucus. Last December a similar caucus resulted in a furor when the governors issued a statement criticizing the lack of communication between the White House and the various governors' mansions occupied by Democrats.

The December statement came on the heels of Republican gains in gubernatorial and congressional elections.

"There is no remnant of disharmony," said Gov. Richard J. Hughes of New Jersey. "The consensus is opposite now."

Hughes had defended Johnson against the post-election criticism of last December. Shortly after that caucus at White

Reds Influence Anti-War Acts Throughout U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Committee on Un-American Activities says Communist organizations "have been importantly involved in the great majority" of anti-war demonstrations in the United States.

In foreword written by Chairman Edwin E. Willis, D-La., for the committee's annual report, the group noted that never before while the United States has been engaged in war have there been so many and such varied demonstrations.

While it would be untrue to say that all of the protests were organized by Communists, the committee said, they have been "the originating and guiding force in the major demonstrations."

The committee said Americans must inform themselves of the facts and issues of the war so as not to be "taken in by the Communist lies and distortions" and to be able to "keep others from falling for them as well."

Royalist Sheik Dies In a Yemen Ambush

ADEN (AP)—One of Royalist Yemen's most outspoken leaders, Sheik Ali Salih Fedama was ambushed and killed Sunday in foothills near Mudieh, 200 miles from here, British intelligence said today.

A British spokesman said guerrillas, acting on Egyptian army instructions, laid the ambush.

Four persons died with the sheik, including his eldest son. Another son, Farook Fedama, 16, is in chains in Sana, Yemen's capital, where constant torture has robbed him of use of his legs, says British intelligence.

Soldiers of the South Arabian army found the sheik and four others dead in the sheik's car. The guerrillas had opened up on it with four machine guns, the British ss Suphur Springs, W.Va., the President began a campaign to establish better relations with the Democratic governors.

Iowa Gov. Harold Hughes, the caucus chairman, described the St. Louis meeting as a friendship and harmony session. There is reason to believe a good bit of campaign strategy was discussed in the closed session attended by 17 of the 25 Democratic governors.

Many of the governors agreed they had gained a stronger voice in the national affairs of the Democratic party and could expect a little more help from the President in their state races.

Extradition Of Tshombe Is Requested

KINSHASA, the Congo (AP) — The Congo government has asked Algeria to extradite former Premier Moise Tshombe to Kinshasa so it can execute him on charges of treason and plotting to overthrow President Joseph Mobutu.

Since most African nationalist leaders consider Tshombe a puppet of the colonialists, it was assumed that Algeria's anti-Western regime would turn him over to the Congo government.

Tshombe is being held in Algiers after the apparent hijacking Saturday of the British charter plane in which he was traveling from Palma de Mallorca to the nearby Mediterranean island of Ibiza, in the Spanish Balearics.

Algerian officials said several mercenary soldiers and Belgian citizens were on the plane with Tshombe, along with three British subjects, the pilot, copilot and hostess. Reports to Paris from Algiers said Tshombe's arrival was a surprise to the government of President Houari Boumedienne. Algerian officials denied arranging the landing at Boufarik military air field west of Algiers.

Algeria and the Congo broke diplomatic relations in 1964 under Tshombe's regime and have not formally resumed them. But a Congolese Embassy spokesman in Paris said his government has assigned representatives to open extradition talks with Algeria.

The 49-year-old Congolese leader has been in European exile for 19 months, living most recently in Madrid, since Mobutu took power in a bloodless coup. Tshombe's political party has been banned in the Congo, his property confiscated and his supporters thrown out of their positions.

Tshombe was sentenced to death in absentia by a Congolese military tribunal last March after it found him guilty of treason and subversion. Most of the charges grew out of the secession of his copper-rich Katanga Province from the rest of the Congo in 1960. In 1963 a U.N. force put down the secession, driving Tshombe into exile.

July 4 Death Count Goes Beyond 400

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The toll of lives in traffic accidents during the Independence Day weekend surged past 400 today, and the National Safety Council said it appeared the final figure will be "about in the mid-range of our prediction."

The council had estimated in advance that 700 to 800 persons would be killed on the streets and highways during the four-day holiday period. With a day and a half to go, a council statistician said the probability was 720 to 750.

At midday the number of traffic fatalities since 2 p.m. EDT Friday was 433. The holiday weekend officially ends at midnight Tuesday.

Six persons were killed in southern Virginia today when their car crashed into a signpost on Interstate 95. Police said a tire blowout apparently caused this accident 10 miles south of Emporia.

The nation's worst accident during the weekend occurred on a straight stretch of Illinois 23 about 70 miles southwest of Chicago. Six teen-agers were killed in a head-on collision involving two cars Saturday night.

In Waynesboro, Va., a car carrying Gov. and Mrs. Mills E. Godwin Jr., collided with another automobile. A passenger in the other car was killed. The governor's wife suffered a broken ankle.

The worst Independence Day weekend for traffic deaths was last year. There were 576 fatalities in the three-day period. The worst toll for any holiday was 748 during the four-day Thanksgiving weekend last year.

There were 84 drownings and 23 boating fatalities throughout the nation since the holiday period began.

Six persons have died in traffic accidents in Missouri, so far over the Fourth of July holiday. Connie Jarrell, 17, of Parkville, Mo., was killed and four other teen-agers were injured when a convertible automobile in which they were riding overturned into a ditch in Platte County Sunday.

Two young men were killed in a hayride accident on route EE near Owensville, Mo., Saturday night. The victims were Walter Niewald, 23, Owensville, driver of a tractor pulling the hayrack, and George Hemmens, 23,

Marines Are Cut Up Stopping Red Unit

Casualties Go Beyond 200 Mark

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Marines halted an infiltrating force of about North Vietnamese regulars Sunday in a savage battle that cost more than 200 American casualties. Communist artillery followed by hammering at the Marine base.

A U.S. Marine spokesman at Da Nang listed Leatherneck casualties as 58 killed, 34 missing and 125 wounded. He said 86 North Vietnamese had been killed. Commanders on the scene said more Communists may have been killed or wounded in counterstrikes by U.S. planes, artillery and naval guns.

A Marine sergeant at the battle scene told a newsman: "Last night's missing Marines became today's dead ones."

The battle took place in the long-threatened 1st Corps area just below the demilitarized zone. The Communists kept up heavy pressure today with thunderous, big gun barrages and an ambush that raked a 100-truck South Vietnamese convoy.

The war mounted in intensity on the ground and in the air above North Vietnam with these major developments:

1. The Marines stopped the elite North Vietnamese 90th Regiment moving south for an attack on the Marine outpost at Con Thien.

2. South Vietnamese headquarters said that about noon today a Communist force jumped a 100-truck supply convoy moving from Da Nang to Phu Bai with an escort of armored vehicles and two companies of troops.

Initial reports did not specify losses to the convoy.

3. The vital Marine airfield at Dong Ha was put out of use for five hours by Communist gun fire, and considerable damage was caused to the Air Force radar installations there which keep watch over the demilitarized zone just to the north. At least four Air Force men were wounded. The Red gunners fired 120 rounds at the installation.

4. The Air Force said three U.S. jets were lost in raids over North Vietnam Sunday. One pilot of a Navy Skyhawk jet was listed as missing in action. The pilots of two Air Force Thunderchief jets were picked up in daring helicopter rescues. One pilot hid overnight, and 32 aircraft participated in his rescue.

5. Troops of the U.S. 1st Cavalry, Airmobile, Division battled a guerrilla force Sunday of perhaps 250 men holding a concealed underground fortress in the foothills of coastal Bong Son Province. In a nine-hour fight the cavalrymen killed 75 Communist troops but had 19 dead and 33 wounded.

Israelis Charge Arabs

Exchange Fire At Suez Canal

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Egyptian and Israeli troops clashed at the Suez Canal for the third day today as the United Nations prepared to vote on demands for the withdrawal of Israeli troops and Israel said thousands of Arab refugees could return home.

The Israeli army said Egyptian troops on the canal's west bank fired for 20 minutes at Israeli soldiers on the east bank near El Qantara, about 25 miles from the canal's northern entrance.

The Israelis said the Egyptians fired across the canal a second time two hours later, but the Israeli troops returned the fire and the Egyptians quit shooting.

Israel, which captured nearly all of Egypt east of the canal in the June 5-10 war, reported three such machine gun and mortar attacks Sunday on its positions near El Qantara. The Israelis said they silenced the Egyptian gunners each time.

Radio Cairo said Egyptian forces in position on the eastern bank turned back an Israeli attack and destroyed six tanks and nine armored cars in two days of fighting.

The two sides clashed Saturday night on the east bank. Egypt claimed its men had been there all along. Israel said about 100 Egyptians had crossed the canal and penetrated about nine miles into the Sinai Peninsula before being driven back across the waterway.

Each side protested to U.N. Secretary-General U Thant that the other had broken the June 10 cease-fire.

Israeli army spokesmen reported seven Israelis wounded Saturday night and one Israeli officer seriously wounded and "several" men slightly hurt Sunday.

Egypt made no mention of losses or casualties.

At the time of the cease-fire, Egypt had a force in Port Fuad, on the east bank across from Port Said at the canal's northern entrance. Radio Cairo claimed the Israeli were trying to move on Port Fuad.

Israeli military men interpreted the new outbreak as an attempt by Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser to rally his shattered army against the threat of an Israeli invasion. The Israeli newspaper Maariv quoted political informants in Jerusalem as saying the Egyptians might be trying to influence the U.N. General Assembly to vote for the withdrawal of Israeli forces from lands they captured in Egypt, Syria and Jordan.

Two rival resolutions are before the assembly, neither assured of gaining the two-thirds vote needed for adoption. Both call for Israeli withdrawal.

The nonaligned resolution calls on Israel to withdraw immediately. It asks that the council "consider urgently all aspects of the situation in the Middle East" and seek a solution of all legal, political and humanitarian problems—but not until "immediately after the withdrawal."

Cradle of Freedom Is Set To Celebrate July Fourth

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The nation is prepared to commemorate its birth in Philadelphia 191 years ago Tuesday with fireworks and parades but the war in far-off Vietnam and the soldiers who have died there strike a somber note.

Philadelphia, where the Declaration of Independence was announced July 4, 1776, is in the midst of a week of celebrations which will reach a climax Tuesday. Fireworks displays, special sporting events, concerts and parades are planned.

Activities center on the small group of buildings where the Continental Congress met in 1776, now part of the Independence National Historic Park. They will include reading parts of the Declaration of Independence, and a parade by 3rd Infantry Old Guard units in colonial dress.

Services are planned by veterans groups in Philadelphia as a memorial to Americans who have lost their lives in Vietnam and other wars.

President Johnson and his wife are enjoying a holiday stay at their ranch in Texas. Their oldest daughter, Lynda Bird, relaxed with the young set at Rehoboth Beach, Del., an Atlantic shore resort.

Like the First Family, many others across the country used the five-day holiday for relaxation and fun, be it at a lake or shore resort, in the country, or before a backyard barbecue.

A 50-gun salute—one for each state—will highlight Atlanta's Fourth of July. Its "Salute to America" parade, sponsored by WSB-TV, is expected to attract 200,000 spectators. Fireworks displays, picnics, and Southern-style barbecues are also planned.

More than 600 of the nation's war dead will be honored with flags, many of which draped their caskets before burial, on 12 "Avenues of Flags" in cities in Jefferson County, Alabama.

The idea was conceived in 1962 by H. C. Rush of Bessemer, Ala., and is sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars chapters.

In Milwaukee, more than a half million persons were expected for the sixth annual circus parade, featuring 54 authentic antique circus wagons from the Circus World Museum at Baraboo. More than 500,000 persons lined the route last year to watch the parade, which climaxes the week-long annual "Old Milwaukee days" observance.

Bell ringing, recalling the tolling of the Liberty Bell in Philadelphia at the first public reading on the Declaration of Independence in 1776, was to be led by the bell from St. John's church in Richmond, Va., where Patrick Henry once proclaimed, "Give me liberty or give me death."

Delaware Gov. Luther Terry asked that all bells in his state be rung at 2 p.m. Tuesday.

Governor Lauds State Lawmakers

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Gov. Warren E. Hearnes said today the 1967 legislature "produced a fine record of service to the people."

"All in all," he said, "I would say that the 74th General Assembly did an excellent job."

In his statement he added: "It has broadened welfare benefits, increased aid to education, extended the mental health program and done much to ward off federal intervention in several fields, leaving the decisions to be made at state level."

"As far as my program is concerned, I am sorry that the General Assembly did not see fit to enact the ADC-U and shared-time bills. But that was their decision and I do not quarrel with it."

"I am extremely pleased that most of the major bills in the administration program were enacted, especially the toll road bill which I am sure will open new vistas for the state of Missouri."

Rep. R. J. (Bus) King, R-Clayton, minority floor leader in the House, disagreed with Hearnes.

"The performance of the Missouri House in the closing hours was the most disgraceful and pathetic thing I have ever witnessed in the 25 years I have been associated with state government," King said.

Curiosity Seekers At Burial Site

PEN ARGYL, Pa. (AP) — Crowds of curiosity seekers are arriving in this small, quiet hamlet to see the burial site of actress Jayne Mansfield.

But the family of the 34-year-old Miss Mansfield, who became a famous Hollywood sex symbol, reiterated its intention to keep the final rites today simple and private.

And there has been little for the curious to see: a tarpaulin over a newly opened grave near the entrance to Fairview Cemetery, a neat white house where Miss Mansfield lived as a child.

The actress was killed Thursday along with her attorney and chauffeur in a car-truck crash in Louisiana.

Meeting Sunday night at the home of Miss Mansfield's aunt, Mrs. Bert Milheim, relatives, and Hungarian-born strongman Mickey Hargitay, the actress' second husband, made final plans for services.

Accustomed to and welcoming the glare of publicity while alive, the actress was to be buried in relative privacy, Richard Milheim, a cousin, stressed.

Milheim said the family wanted a quiet, dignified burial "and we have 300 policemen" to insure it.

Services were set for 2 p.m. EDT.

Born in Bryn Mawr, Pa., on the Philadelphia Main Line, Miss Mansfield moved here with her mother, now Mrs. Harry Peers of Dallas, Tex., after her father, Herbert Palmer, died when she was 2 years old.

She had lived in this small mining town for several years with the Milheims and with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Palmer, who lived nearby. Her grave is near her grandparents' and not far from her father's.

Second, who died Saturday were held at 9:30 a.m. Monday at Gillespie Funeral Home with the Rev. W. F. Strickert, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, officiating.

Miss Mildred Brackman played organ selections. Pallbearers were: Earl Bell, Dick Jackson, Dick Snow, R. B. Spence, Wally Ward and Charlie Wooster.

Burial was in the Forest Park Cemetery, Joplin, with the Rev. Paul Teramstedt, officiating.

Willard F. Craig

Funeral services for Willard F. Craig, 58, 400 East 24th, who died at Fulton, Saturday morning, were held at the Ewing Funeral Home at 3 p.m. Monday. The Rev. Russell Sporer, pastor of the Church of the Open Bible, officiated, assisted by the Rev. Alva L. Lemens.

Mrs. Perry Crabb, Mrs. Jas. McCall and Mrs. Roy Martin sang, "The Old Rugged Cross" and "Going Down the Valley," accompanied by Mrs. C. D. DeLozier at the organ.

Pallbearers were Ralph Craig, Robert Hughes, Larry Craig, Michael Craig, Donald Logan and Donald Hughes.

Burial was in the Memorial Park Cemetery.

Accidents

Two persons received minor lacerations in a two-vehicle accident six and one-half miles northwest of Highways 65 and CC on a country road about 9:55 a.m. Sunday.

The vehicles involved were a 1959 Chevrolet, driven east by Alfred D. Rhodus, 19, Marshall, and a 1962 Chevrolet driven south by Ella Dean Imhauser, 38, Houstonia. Trooper Charles Pieper, who investigated for the Highway Patrol, said the 1959 Chevrolet was attempting to turn when the accident occurred.

Mrs. Jo Ann Rhodus, 20, of Marshall, received a laceration on her cheek, and Bret James Imhauser, age 4, son of the driver of the 1962 Chevrolet, received a laceration on the lower lip.

The front of the 1959 car and the right front of the Imhauser car were damaged. Pieper said.

Police reported no injuries after a two-vehicle accident at 12:51 a.m. Sunday at 1402 South Quincy.

Involved were a 1966 Buick driven north on Quincy by William J. Jarrett, 34, 901 South Quincy, and a 1962 Ford, parked, owned by R. C. Bechtell, Guthrie Center, Iowa.

Wisconsin Has Second Violent Night

LAKE GENEVA, Wis. (AP) — Thousands of rampaging youths hurled beer bottles and fireworks at police Sunday in a second night of violence in this southern Wisconsin resort city.

Windows were broken, parking meters ripped loose, and police stoned in the three-hour uprising.

Lake Geneva police refused to say how many youths had been arrested, but estimates from other authorities placed the figure above 100 for the two nights.

National Guardsmen were alerted at the county seat of Elkhorn and mobilized at an armory but did not enter Lake Geneva.

Three times, police pushed the milling crowd of youths back into a lakeside park in efforts to shield downtown businesses before bringing the outbreak under control early today.

Police began shutting down bars about two hours in advance of the normal closing time and imposed a 1 a.m. emergency curfew on the city.

"We sure took a beating," said Lake Geneva Sgt. Donald Fry. "We're going to get it again tonight, too."

Lake Geneva, 75 miles northwest of Chicago, has been a Fourth of July mecca for restless youths who have exploded in holiday disturbances for five straight years.

"We go through this every year up here. And every year it gets a little worse," said Deputy Sheriff James Van Beek. "It was quite a violent mob Sunday night."

Fair Secretary Hurt In Tractor Accident

Wilbert C. Askew, 1900 South Limit, secretary of the Missouri State Fair, was reported in good condition at Bothwell Hospital Monday noon following an accident about 3:30 p.m. Sunday on Askew's farm near Jefferson City.

State Fair officials reported Askew was mowing a field when the tractor he was driving overturned. Dr. D. R. Edwards, who treated Askew here, said he suffered bruises and contusions.

Askew was admitted to the hospital at 8:30 p.m. Sunday. X-rays taken Monday failed to reveal any fractures, Dr. Edwards said.

Reportedly Enjoying Holiday Stay

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson, rising in the polls and armed with a new statement of support from Democratic governors, is described as thoroughly enjoying his holiday stay at the LBJ Ranch.

Johnson spent a quiet Sunday in his native central Texas hill country, driving to church, helping daughter Luci celebrate her 20th birthday and boating on Lake Lyndon B. Johnson.

This leisurely pace contrasted with a flying trip to St. Louis Saturday to meet with Democratic governors and thank them for statements of support that he later told a news conference were "music to my ears."

The governors, with two from the Deep South abstaining, adopted a "statement of accord" that praised Johnson's efforts at home and abroad and declared: "No political leader in the world is giving more inspired meaning to the words 'freedom for all people' than is President Lyndon B. Johnson."

Even as Johnson was meeting with the governors, the Harris Poll, copyright by the Washington Post Co., was reporting an 11-point jump in the President's popularity following his meeting with Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and his handling of the Middle East crisis.

Making no effort to hide his partisanship, he told the St. Louis news conference: "We belong to a party where we can speak our minds, and we spoke it well in 1964 and we're going to speak it again in 1968."

The President also said, "I think, generally, that the worst Democrat is better for the country than the best Republican."

Johnson and wife Lady Bird are expected to remain at their ranch, some 75 miles northwest of San Antonio, through July 4. It's felt they may linger through next weekend.

While meeting with the governors, Johnson signed into law a bill authorizing $43 million of spending over two years for programs to benefit the elderly.

He also issued a statement hailing the first anniversary of the medicare program, saying the insurance plan "goes into its second year on a sound administrative basis."

of St. Louis. The tractor slipped off the edge of the road and skidded down an embankment with the wagon behind it.

Killed in a car-truck collision Friday night about 15 miles east of East Prairie, Mo., was Louis Busby, of East Prairie.

Mrs. Alberta Firmin, 69, De Kalb, Mo., was killed in a head-on collision at the crest of a hill Saturday night about 12 miles south of St. Joseph.

Donald Randolph, 46, an assistant attorney general of Jefferson City, was the first victim of the holiday toll. He was killed Friday night when his car went out of control on I-70 eight miles east of Sweet Springs.

Accident Rate Ahead of 1966

The Sedalia police traffic summary shows June of 1967 as having seven more accidents than the comparative month of 1966, 68 against 61. While reportable injuries increased four more comparison being 18 to 14.

The total number of accidents for the first six months of 1967 are three less than 1966, with 385 this year and 388 last year for the same period. However, reportable injuries jumped by 25, with 121 this year as compared with 96 in 1966.

For the first six months of the year four persons died as a traffic accident this year while for the first six months of 1966 two persons died as a result of a traffic accident.

In a 30 mile-an-hour zone, forfeited a $15 bond.

Arthur M. Cook, Smithton, driving 45 miles an hour in a 30 mile-an-hour zone, forfeited a $15 bond.

Ralph D. Silvey, Tipton, driving 40 miles an hour in a 30 mile-an-hour zone, forfeited a $10 bond.

Republican Seeks Nomination To Senate

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Morris DeWayne Duncan, Kansas City today became the first Republican to seek the nomination for U.S. Senator.

Two persons have filed for the Democrat nomination, Sen. Edward V. Long of Bowling Green and William McKinley Thomas of St. Louis. For years Thomas ran in vain for high office on the Republican ticket but in recent years has switched parties.

Duncan, 47, a lawyer and osteopathic physician, finished third in the August 1962 GOP primary for the U.S. Senate in a race with Crosby Kemper, Kansas City banker, and Duane S. Cox, Springfield lawyer.

In 1963 he filed for the Republican nomination for Jackson County coroner, but withdrew from the primary race the following year to concentrate on his second campaign for a Senate seat.

A bachelor, Duncan received both his bachelor's and law degrees from Kansas City University and his osteopathic degree from the Kansas City College of Osteopathy and Surgery.

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The Institutional Revolutionary Party—PRI—which has ruled Mexico for almost 40 years today claimed its usual overwhelming victory in Sunday's voting for federal deputies, state governors and municipal officials.

PRI President Lauro Ortega claimed victory for all PRI candidates shortly before midnight. Adolfo Christlieb, president of the opposition Party of National Action—PAN, refused to concede defeat.

"For a long time it has been the privilege of the PRI to announce results before actually knowing the results of the vote count," Christlieb said.

Official returns from Mexico's 31,968 voting precincts will not be made public until Sunday.

BERLIN (AP) — The ballot's only slate—the Communist-picked candidates—won East Germany's parliamentary elections Sunday with less than one per cent of the voters rejecting them, the official news agency ADN reported.

ADN said 98.82 per cent of the 12.2 million eligible voters cast ballots for the national Chamber of Deputies and state parliaments, and 99.93 per cent of those who voted chose the candidates endorsed by the Communists.

PARIS (AP) — France, working toward explosion of its first hydrogen bomb next year, detonated a "low-yield" atomic device Sunday at its Pacific test center at Mururoa, the Defense Ministry reported.

The ministry said the explosion was the last in France's 1967

Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I would like to comment on the letters from those men (?) who are lounging around in their wives' dresses, wearing bloomers, girdles, nylons and high heels, and yet they have the nerve to say they do it for kicks and that they are perfectly normal.

Most of those nuts said they were married and have children. So what? Marriage and children are not proof of normalcy. In many cases these queers marry to gain respectability and put up a smokescreen.

Men who get their kicks dressing up in women's clothes are not normal and it baffles me how a smart woman like you can be taken in by such rubbish. Don't you know they are homosexuals? If you don't know it you have no business being a human relations counselor. I hope you will set the record straight once and for all. — NO CURLY CUES

Dear Curly: I did not say they were normal. They said they were normal. Of course I am aware that something is off-kilter when a man gets a charge out of wearing his wife's underwear. And since you want to keep the record straight, I must tell you that you are wrong when you make the flat statement that these men are homosexuals. Most of them are not. They are transvestites. TV Show To Gain Its First Woman

By FRED MACMURRAY

For Cynthia Lowry

EDITOR'S NOTE—Fred MacMurray, after a film career that goes back to 1935, took the leap into television in 1960 with a situation comedy, "My Three Sons," which turned immediately into a long-running CBS hit. Working with a blue-print that requires his presence in the television studios at only portions of the working year, MacMurray is able to continue his very successful motion picture work.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — As long as I can recall, I've found it difficult to say anything that I considered important or newsworthy. I am not profound. I am no philosopher. Knowing this I have shied away from interviews whenever possible because whatever I might say I have said many times before.

But when I was asked to write this column, I realized that at last I do have something to say that might be considered news to fans of our CBS television network show, "My Three Sons." So here I am at the typewriter.

For seven years our television family has been comfortably ensconced in its home "somewhere in the Midwest" at 519 Maple Ave. Only three changes were made in all that time:

1. When the late William Frawley—who played Bub—became ill, we substituted William Demarest as Bub's brother, Uncle Charley. It became obvious that Bill was going to have an exceedingly long convalescence, so Uncle Charley continued on, handling Bub's chores around the house as chief cook and grumbler.

2. The oldest of the three sons, Mike—Tim Considine—grew to an age that called for his marriage, like any normal, red-blooded American boy, so Mike married and left the homestead. He was replaced by our adopting Ernie, the kid down the street, who actually is Stanley (Chip) Livingston's brother, Barry Livingston. Ernie moved in, and our kids were once again in the same age bracket as when we started the series in 1960.

3. When we started filming in color last year, the family splurged, and we replaced our old, worn-out furniture with some that's new and somewhat more colorful.

And that was about it. But next year there'll be some changes made—plenty of them.

Most important, perhaps, the family will move from its fictional Midwestern location to California.

Changing Character of US Symbolized By Automobile

By JOHN CUNIFF

AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The changing character of America will be symbolized Tuesday by the automobile, in which many citizens will celebrate Independence Day with a trip to the country, the shore or — as we are reminded — to eternity.

It is a good bet that the 56.2 million Americans who own one or more cars will use them Tuesday. Almost certainly millions of these will spend more time driving than in any other activity.

The contrast is vivid between this modern pastime and the once secure and insular holiday of ice cream, ball games, band concerts and fireworks after dusk.

In less mobile days the celebration of the Fourth was a town affair. The population stirred toward the center of town and a day's activities among familiar faces.

The population now disperses by auto. It decentralizes throughout the countryside to mix with strangers.

In three hours Tuesday millions of Americans will travel as much as 200 miles by car, a trip that took days or weeks back in 1776, when the Declaration of Independence was signed in Philadelphia.

If it were just an average day

A Living Historic Document

The Declaration of Independence is both document and idea. As both, it has had a long but far from always secure existence.

Approaching the end of its second century, the faded parchment, signatures all but illegible, is housed in Washington's National Archives, protected from the natural processes of decay and disintegration by every means known to science.

But it is only during fairly recent times that such care has been shown for the physical state of the nation's birth certificate. During its earlier years, the parchment shared in its own way the vicissitudes of the nation. At times it seemed hit or miss whether either would survive the besetting perils.

During the Revolution, when the American bid for freedom so frequently seemed on the verge of extinction, the Declaration was rushed from town to town to keep it out of the hands of the advancing British. During the War of 1812 and the burning of Washington, it was sewn into linen bags and lay hidden in a Virginia barn.

Only in recent and more secure times for the nation has it known special care and a permanent place of honor. The exhibition hall in the National Archives is a fitting background as well as a secure resting place.

None question that the Declaration should be treated with care and reverence. The document is a precious part of the American heritage, of our present and future.

But more precious yet is the idea, the living idea that makes the Declaration a vital, continuing fact of the American experience. Without it, the document is no more than a collection of fading words on drying parchment.

To preserve it, we cannot turn to science, to sealed cabinets and controlled humidity. It lives not on paper but in heart and mind of each American and of all Americans.

Its preservation lies solely in our determination that it shall live.

Lyndon a Candidate

With the assurance that there is now another Lyndon (Luci's baby), although not another L.B.J., President Johnson has given strong indication that he will run for office in 1968. In his recent Los Angeles speech he prefaced his remarks by saying, "With the proceeds of this dinner, we can now begin to marshal the resources that we need to carry our case to all the people in the election of 1968."

When Johnson was elected in 1964 the Democratic Party owed $4 million. "We have been trying to work ourselves out from under that debt ever since," he said. "Tonight we have made it."

It is unfortunate that the Democratic Party has become identified as the war party, but it is also true that American presidents have been defeated for re-election during a war. "Whatever the prophets may write... no President has ever been turned upon when he has been engaged in trying to protect his country and its interests against a foreign foe," was Johnson's appeal to the crowd attending the big fund raising dinner.

His remarks were accepted as his announcement to run again. He pleaded for

LBJ Briefs Cabinet On Kosygin Talks

By DREW PEARSON AND JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — President Johnson has now given a detailed report to the Cabinet on his talks with Premier Kosygin at Glassboro. He used picturesque language which only LBJ can use.

He reported that it was Kosygin who first raised the issue of grandparenthood.

"I have been a grandfather for 18 years," said the Russian Premier congratulating the President on his new elevation to fame. "You have been a grandfather only 18 hours. I have seniority over you. But we both want to keep our grandchildren from fighting another war."

Kosygin soon got around to the question of the withdrawal of Israeli troops from Arab territory. Johnson agreed with the general principle of withdrawing troops, but argued that the war would start all over again unless Israel had some safeguards for the future. He reminded Kosygin that Russia had recognized Israel as a country and that the Soviet could not put Israel back into a position of having to defend itself once more against hostile Arab neighbors with no guarantee for safety.

The President proposed ten points for the solution of Near East problems, including refugees, which he told Kosygin had to be taken care of; free passage through the Gulf of Aqaba; and development of both the Arab states and Israel through international cooperation by the larger countries.

The President reported that he made quite a pitch to Kosygin regarding free international waterways. "Russia is a great maritime power and must stand for free international waterways," he told Kosygin. "You must agree with us on the right of transit through the Gulf of Aqaba."

When Kosygin kept coming back to the withdrawal of troops, the President told him: "I have read your speech before the United Nations. There's a lot in that speech with which we agree. But the main thing is to make sure that we don't have war in the Near East again. If we merely insist that Israel withdraw its troops, we'll head for another war. We've got to settle the causes of war first."

In between the two Glassboro talks, Kosygin wired Moscow for instructions but received word to stick to the Moscow line. It was learned from the American Embassy in Moscow that a special session of the Plenum had been summoned in the Kremlin to discuss the Glassboro Summit meeting. The two most moderate members of the Soviet government are Kosygin and President Podgorny. But with one in Glassboro and the other in Egypt, the hard-liners in the Kremlin reemphasized Soviet policy and wired Kosygin to stand pat.

As a result, he came back to the second Glassboro session a little tougher than in the first.

Several times during their talks Kosygin told the President: "We want peace; you want war."

The President did not reply to this at first. He waited about 20 seconds looking Kosygin straight in the eye. Then he leaned over close to him in the same way that Johnson puts his face close to a Senator when he's trying to change the Senator's vote.

He told Kosygin that he had not been in Russia and didn't know the country or its people very well. "I'd like to know them better," he said. "But I'm sure that after all they went through at Leningrad and Stalingrad they don't want another war."

Then the President emphasized the attitude of the American people toward war; that they wanted peace more than anything else in the world.

The President also asked Kosygin why Russia had not joined with the United States in opening up the Strait of Tiran. He said that if the Soviet had joined the United States in opening the Strait, there would have been no war.

At one time Kosygin wanted to know why the United States hadn't stopped the Israelis from starting the war. Johnson replied that the United States didn't control the Israelis any more than Russia controlled the Arabs.

Kosygin kept coming back to the charge that the United States was siding with two million Jews against one hundred million Arabs. He seemed to think that the United States should be on the side of the majority. Johnson told him that every country had a right to live, no matter what its size.

All this repartee took place in good humor, without any threats.

Johnson told his Cabinet: "We didn't get mad, we didn't call each other names. He didn't try to bulldoze me. He didn't point his finger at me or shout and I didn't do this to him. He acted like a lawyer representing his country in a very matter-of-fact, practical manner."

Kosygin told the President how much he had felt the loss of his wife, who died some time ago, and how much he depended upon his daughter whom he brought with him to the United States. Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Richard Hughes, wife of the Governor of New Jersey, took Kosygin's daughter on a tour of the New Jersey beaches which she seemed to enjoy immensely.

Probably the chief benefit of their talks, the President reported, was in the fact that the two men got to know each other. In addition, the President felt that they had made some progress regarding arms limitation and a nuclear non-proliferation pact.

"We agreed there was no use spending a lot of money on arms when we could spend it on schools and hospitals, roads and housing, and make our countries better places to live," the President reported to his Cabinet.

The World Today

Johnson Is Riding Wave of Popularity

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's stock is going up.

There's not much doubt he will run again in 1968. His popularity in the public opinion polls soared after his summit meeting with Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and the way he tried to cool the Middle East crisis, although he didn't say much.

Since he is a master politician, nothing could help him more than a 1968 summit meeting with three or four heads of state, including the Soviet Union, or the beginning of negotiations to end the war.

It should be no surprise if either happens.

One big difference between Democrats and Republicans right now is that the Republicans don't have any idea who their presidential candidate will be. The Democrats don't seem to have any uncertainty about it.

But that isn't the only difference, as last week showed.

Republican governors met, discussed, and went home believing it was too early for them to endorse any candidate. Democratic governors met and gave Johnson a hearty cheer. It was "music to my ears," he said.

The Democratic governors, meeting at St. Louis where Johnson joined them, issued a statement praising the President's "courageous efforts" to obtain peace abroad and "civil obedience" at home.

They didn't specifically say they wanted him to run again—some Southerners resisted getting in line this early. But one governor, Missouri's Warren E. Hearnes, said, "I'm not so naive as to feel Mr. Johnson will not be the nominee."

Hearnes wasn't so mild on the subject of Johnson last December when he said unless Johnson changed some policies and re-evaluated the political situation the Democrats might well "start all over with a new candidate" in 1968.

But then last year wasn't

Johnson's good year with the Democratic governors who met at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., after the 1966 elections in which Democrats took a clubbing, suffering a net loss of 47 House seats, 3 Senate seats and 8 governorships.

Johnson had taken little part in the election campaigning. And in the midst of the campaign he went off to Manila for a conference on the Vietnamese war.

Besides, his standing in the popularity polls was way down then.

At White Sulphur Springs the Democratic governors frankly and, it seemed, bitterly condemned the Johnson administration for the party's election losses, which they blamed on an anti-administration vote.

Nevertheless, even then most of the governors were saying Johnson would run again next year and win. Nine of them subsequently journeyed to the White House to complain to Johnson about the way he handled them or, rather, ignored them.

But the full story of something else which happened between the fall of 1966 and now has never been revealed. Johnson in that time apparently went to work on the job of changing his public image.

Since then his public statements have been low-keyed and so have his mannerisms, which had irritated a lot of people. He kept to this formula even after his meeting with Kosygin. He was enthusiastic about it but didn't overdo it.

This was his first big bid for public approval since 1964 and the results must have been assuring to him. The Harris public opinion poll over the weekend said his popularity had shot up 11 points over last May.

At that time the poll showed only 47 per cent of those quizzed approved the way he handled his job while 53 per cent didn't. Now the rating is 58 approving, 42 not. The Harris people said this is a bigger increase in public approval than ever recorded for President John F. Kennedy.

Jim asks, "How much advantage do you think a home town expert has in a duplicate tournament when he knows the bidding style of local opponents?"

Oswald: "The advantage is tremendous. It applies particularly in competitive situations. As an example, here is a hand bid by J. G. Ripstra, playing in his home town of Wichita, Kan., in the Missouri Valley Regionals."

Jim: "I see Rip opened with a diamond in the East position."

Oswald: "Normally he would open one club but he knew that South was one of those desperation bidders and Rip wanted to be able to bid clubs later on if South stuck in a nuisance jump bid."

Jim: "South sure stuck in a nuisance jump bid. West could do nothing. He had no idea whether South was a sound bidder or a desperado."

Oswald: "Rip knew that South was a desperado. If South had merely bid two or three spades, Rip would have shown his clubs, but Rip decided to double."

Jim: "After the diamond lead, there was no way for South to avoid the loss of two diamonds, a diamond ruff, and a spade and a heart for down three or minus 500."

Oswald: "Rip's plus 500 turned out to be a top score. The best East and West can do in hearts is to make five odd. While the club slam can be made against any lead, no one did bid it and make it. It isn't really a good contract and the play against a heart opening comes close to requiring clairvoyance."

Some Laws Passed

Abortion Liberalizationists Make Gains, Suffer Defeats

By ROBERT GOLDENSTEIN

CHICAGO (AP) — Forces fighting for liberalization of the nation's abortion laws scored their greatest gains this year—and suffered some resounding defeats.

The Colorado, North Carolina and California legislatures passed laws broadening the circumstances under which doctors can legally perform abortions.

The Indiana Legislature passed an abortion liberalization law, but Gov. Roger Branigan vetoed it. "It offends the moral principles of a large proportion of our citizens," he said.

In a related development, the American Medical Association changed a policy that has stood since 1871 and adopted a liberal stand on abortion. The action came at its annual convention in Atlantic City, N.J., in June.

But moves to change laws on abortion were killed or put over by Legislatures in Connecticut, Nevada, Michigan, Iowa, Maryland, New Mexico, New York and Tennessee.

Colorado became the first state to adopt in full recommendations made in 1959 by the American Law Institute in a model penal code on abortion. North Carolina followed suit a few weeks later.

An overwhelming majority of the states permit abortions only when a woman's life is endangered by pregnancy.

The institute, made up of lawyers working with doctors, recommended that therapeutic or legal abortions also should be permitted if:

—Continuance of pregnancy would gravely impair the physical or mental health of the mother.

—There was significant risk that the child would be born with physical or mental defect.

—Pregnancy resulted from rape or incest.

The American Medical Association went along with all these conditions in its new policy, but the California law omits the provision dealing with possible deformed births. That section was removed to meet objections by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

The AMA's 1871 policy statement deemed it unethical for a physician to induce abortion "without the concurrent opinion of at least one other physician and then always with a view to the safety of the child, if that be possible."

The AMA committee recommending the changes called this antiquated and inadequate.

The Roman Catholic Church is the leading opponent of liberalizing abortion laws. The church regards abortion as murder.

In Nevada, however, the Legislature rejected a liberalization bill after two Mormon senators joined Roman Catholic spokesmen in opposing the measure.

Sen. James Gibson said the liberalization proposals would open a Pandora's box. He said his wife was advised to end her last two pregnancies but that the Gibsons left the matter "in higher hands" and that both babies were born without harm to themselves or their mother.

Sen. Vernon Bunker, also a Mormon, read a letter from a Los Angeles physician saying the proposals would reject the fundamental belief in the sanctity of human life.

But Unitarian and Congregational clergymen endorsed a liberalization bill which died in a legislative committee in Iowa; the American Lutheran Church and the American Baptist Convention supported a liberalization bill in the Ohio Legislature.

An abortion liberalization bill was killed in committee in New York after considerable controversy and opposition from Roman Catholics.

Assemblyman Albert H. Blumenthal of Manhattan said he would give his liberalization proposal a new twist at the next legislative session.

He said his new proposal would permit physicians and institutions to refuse to perform such surgery if it conflicted with their religious beliefs. Blumenthal said this provision was designed to resolve objections of Roman Catholics.

Proponents of liberalized abortion, including the Planned Parenthood World Population organization, predict new attempts will be made in states where liberalization proposals have been defeated and in other states where changes have not been proposed.

The AMA estimated that 10,000 abortions were performed in U.S. hospitals each year and that few of these were necessary to save the mother's life.

"American medicine is therefore confronted with a situation whereby conscientious practitioners performing therapeutic abortions for reasons other than those posing a direct threat to the life of the mother are acting contrary to existing laws," the AMA said.

Proponents of more liberal abortion laws point to sharp differences in state laws. In New Jersey, a doctor convicted of causing a patient's death by an illegal abortion can be sentenced to 15 years in prison and fined $5,000.

In Alabama, the convicted doctor could receive as little as a $100 fine and less than a year in prison.

Proponents of liberalization also point to several foreign countries which have lifted various abortion restrictions and claim that abortion mills have sprung up in Mexico across the border from California, Arizona, New Mexico and Texas.

Here are some typical remarks of proponents and opponents of liberalized abortion laws:

Dr. Carl Goldmark Jr., associate attending obstetrician-gynecologist at New York's Lenox Hill Hospital: "A woman denied the right of therapeutic abortion seeks out the criminal abortionist to attain her goal. It is an accepted axiom today that as the therapeutic abortion rate goes down, the criminal abortion rate goes up. As the criminal abortion rate goes up, the maternal death rate from abortion rises. The total number of abortions in a community, therapeutic and criminal, remains constant."

Dr. J. Grant Harrison of Garden City, N.Y., president of the Catholic Physicians' Guild of New York State: "When a woman contracts rubella (baby-deforming German measles) in early pregnancy, the incidence of abnormalities varies from 10 per cent to 30 per cent. Abortion for rubella would mean the intentional destruction of 70 per cent to 90 per cent of normal fetuses to avoid the birth of a child whose defect may only be a decrease in hearing."

Slowdown Scheduled To Begin Wednesday

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP) — A six-day work slowdown was announced Sunday by the Springfield Fire Fighters Association.

The slowdown will begin at 7 a.m. Wednesday in a move by the association to have the firemen's work week cut from 67½ hours to 63, said Dwight Claspill, president of the group.

The city council has said it would comply with the request "if at all possible." The firemen say they want assurance that their request will be carried out by Jan. 1.

Claspill said that if the city doesn't comply within the six-day period a progressive sick leave campaign then will begin. He said this would leave Springfield without fire protection within 48 hours.

He said 122 of the city's force of 129 are involved in the move.

Grain Drying Meeting

Farmers owning and dealers selling grain drying equipment are invited to attend a grain drying meeting at the REA building on Monday, July 10, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Bob George, Extension Engineer, will be on hand to answer questions and to relate new material. Company trained personnel will be on hand to help answer questions. A few farmers will make reports on their problems.

Bring your grain drying manuals and your questions and come early.

Feedlot Tour

Can Missouri cattle feeders compete successfully with feedlots in other states?

Pettis Countians will have a chance to visit four north Missouri feedlots and answer this question for themselves in August.

The University of Missouri Extension Division is sponsoring the tour in Chariton and Carroll Counties, to begin at 12:30 p.m. Wednesday, August 9.

The tour will start at the M. H. Mahken farm five miles southeast of Salisbury on Highway 129. Other stops will be the J. P. Hampton feedlots near Brunswick, the Gary Baxter feedlot near Norborne, and the J. W. Tweedie farm, Norborne.

The tour will end with a barbecue at 6:30 at the Tweedie farm. Tickets for the barbecue are available at the County Extension Center. We urge everyone interested to buy tickets early so the planning committee will know the approximate group size.

A variety of items will be discussed at each stop. Among them are feedlot layout and design, mechanization, efficient use of feed and labor, costs and returns, records and management.

A Test For Moisture on Basement Walls

Concrete walls sometimes have a certain degree of dampness, even when moisture is not visible or apparent to the touch.

To be absolutely sure of a wall's dampness, such as when preparing to paint or put on paneling, there are a number of tests which can be made.

One of the easiest tests is to seal a piece of cellophane, at least 24 inches square, to the wall. Wait three or four days, then remove the cellophane. If there is no moisture under the cellophane, the wall has no dampness in it.

If the cellophane is wet, a special paint should be used. If the wall is to be paneled, a moisture barrier, such as a sheet of polyethylene, should be installed back of the paneling.

Parker Wheat

Parker is a new hard, red, winter wheat developed by Kansas Experiment Station and released jointly by Missouri. It is similar to Triumph, slightly later, and has stiffer straw. It is resistant to leaf rust, Hessian fly, and loose smut, but is susceptible to soil borne mosaic. Yields have been good and test-weight high. Quality is similar to Triumph. Parkers has the Marquillo resistance to Hessian fly which is resistant to race B present in Missouri in 1966. It has the best resistance to leaf rust of any of the present varieties of hard wheat except for Gage. Fifteen Certified Growers received allotments of Foundation seed of Parker last fall. There should be a good supply of Registered seed available for fall seeding.

With the current market differential in favor of hard wheat this new variety of hard wheat may gain wide acceptance. At Columbia this wheat had a yield of 44.4 in 1966. The two-year average yield was 61.2.

one way or another. Some are asking for guidelines to help them use credit wisely.

The use of agricultural credit in a farm business requires a high level of farm and financial management. An operator should analyze his farm business and answer a few questions "yes" before using credit.

Will the assets purchased by credit return sufficient income to repay the principal plus interest?

Will the repayment schedule fit the loan purpose and coincide with the expected income flow of the farm business?

Will the reduction in operating costs be greater than the increase in fixed or ownership costs?

Is the operator willing and able to stand the risk involved in the use of credit?

If you can't answer these questions with a yes, don't use credit on your farm.

Lightning Protection

A number of thunder storms this summer have caused farmers to ask how their buildings should be grounded against lightning.

Buildings can be protected from lightning damage by installing a system of lightning rods, cables and grounds. If lightning does strike, the system provides a direct path for the charge to pass into the ground without going through the building. Such a system is very effective if properly installed.

Before signing a contract for installation, be sure the company gives exact costs and assurance of materials and installation equaling or surpassing all of the minimum requirements of a "master label" system.

Lightning protection systems need repairs and modification to keep up with building changes. All systems need periodic checks to see if cables are properly connected to ground rods. Partial protection from lightning may be no better than no protection.

Slime Mold In Lawns

A number of inquiries have been made in regard to spots in lawns that have a growth on the grass that sheds a sooty black powder. The cause of this particular growth is a primitive type of fungus known as a slime mold. The slime molds are, generally considered a serious pest. They are unsightly and undesirable but usually do little harm to the grass.

As indicated by the descriptive name, the mold is made up of a slimy type of material that lives on decaying organic matter. In wet weather it will proceed up the surface of grass or other vegetation. The black bodies on the grass are the fruiting structures that shed the spores which are for survival in dry weather. The molds usually disappear when weather becomes dry.

Under most conditions slime molds are easily controlled. Spore material can be removed by mowing, raking, and or washing the leaves with a stream of water. However, if a prolonged period of wet weather is encountered, effective control can be obtained by application of any good turf grass fungicide.

Yard Debris Can Be Used As Compost

By Lloyd Lewellen

Moisture conditions over most of Missouri during the month of June have been wet to say the least. These conditions are conducive to the production of copious quantities of plant material.

We find a considerable amount of plant material in the form of weeds, grasses, grass clippings, old mulch materials, etc., coming out of our lawns, yards and gardens.

What are you to do with this material? Do you dump it in a remote area, burn it, haul it off? This is a sure way to get it out of sight or get rid of it, but why not make this unwanted plant material work for you? Why not compost it?

Compost heaps can vary from the most simple to the elaborate. It is most convenient to have a rick or bin in which to make the compost. You might use ordinary wire fence, or boards attached to solid posts. You could also use concrete blocks if you allow air space between blocks.

The rick or bin should be about three to five feet high, three to five feet wide and of any convenient length. The dimensions will depend on how much material you have to compost.

If you place your compost heap anywhere near a large tree it would be desirable to lay down a sheet of plastic on the surface of the ground. Place a little soil over the plastic and you have a good source of micro-organisms. The plastic will prevent the tree roots from growing into the compost heap as it is decomposing and curing.

To begin your heap, build up a six to eight-inch layer of plant materials. Use sod, grass clippings (mix with other coarse materials), weeds, manure, hay, leaves, straw, chopped corn cobs or stalks, sawdust or other plant refuse.

Over the layer of plant materials, sprinkle one cup of fertilizer (6-10-4, 12-12-12, or equivalent) for each 25 square feet. Cover the fertilizer with about an inch of soil.

If desired, a cup of agricultural or dolomitic limestone per each 25 square feet can be applied over the soil. Repeat layers until the heap is three to five feet high — or you run out of material. You can substitute fresh animal or poultry manure for the fertilizer if you have it available.

Keep the compost heap moist, but not soaking wet. During periods of abundant rainfall, covering the heap with a tarp will prevent excessive soaking and leaching.

So take advantage of the weeds and plant refuse you accumulate during the growing season. Compost them! But beware of using diseased plants, weeds with mature seed heads, or greasy foods from the kitchen.

What are the uses for compost? Compost is usually used for a soil amendment in the vegetable or flower garden, or for mixing potting soils. But it can also be used on lawns and around trees or shrubs. You can never have enough compost.

Announces Resignation Of DePugh

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP) — The secretary of the Patriotic party announced at the group's second annual convention Sunday that its chairman, Robert Bolivar DePugh of Norborne, Mo., would resign.

Thomas Hart of Milford, Conn., made the announcement at the opening session of the convention. The meeting concludes today.

Hart said DePugh would resign because of his legal problems with the federal government.

DePugh was convicted in U.S. District Court here last November of violating the National Firearms Act and was sentenced to four years in prison. He is free on bond appealing the conviction.

DePugh, who spoke briefly to the convention Sunday, made no mention of his resignation. He is a founder of the party and of the militant super-patriot group, the Minutemen.

About 150 persons attended Sunday's meeting, fewer than half of last year's turnout.

DePugh was scheduled to make a major address today.

Must Provide Speedy Trial Or Drop Charge

WASHINGTON (AP) — Prosecutors who can't provide criminal defendants with their constitutional right to a speedy trial should drop charges against them, a law panel says.

The recommendation came from an American Bar Association study group headed by Justice Walter V. Schaefer of the Illinois Supreme Court.

The group said completely dropping the charge is the only effective remedy for denying a person a speedy trial.

The right to speedy trial was specified for federal cases in the Constitution and last March the Supreme Court ruled this provision applied to state courts as well.

'High School Curve' Is Enough To Help Down A's

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Rookie Gary Waslewski pitched the hot Boston Red Sox to a series sweep over Kansas City with a 2-1 three-hitter Sunday although he said "I didn't have a thing except a high school curve."

"Usually my best pitch is a sinking fast ball, a natural sinker," Waslewski said. "But it wasn't working today. I was just lucky — they made some great plays behind me."

"I was able to get my breaking pitches over the plate when I had to, and that saved me," said the tall right-hander from Kensington, Conn. "My best was a cross between a slider and a curve — I call it a high school curve."

Joe Foy's bases-empty home run in the eighth inning — a 420-foot shot off the scoreboard cat-walk — won the game. Fireman John Wyatt got the last two outs with the typing run on second base.

But one of the game's big plays for Waslewski came in the sixth inning with the score 1-1. Campy Campaneris, who leads the American League with 30 stolen bases, led off the sixth with a walk. He finally was picked off first with one out — on Waslewski's 10th throw to first.

"I showed Campy a different move on that 10th time," Waslewski said.

"I was a great move," said Red Sox manager Dick Williams. "He learned it in the

'Relief' Received By Angels

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

The California Angels looked as if they were on relief 26 games ago, and they have been collecting it ever since from Minnie Rojas.

The 28-year-old bullpen artist saved his ninth game Sunday with two hitless innings as the high-flying Angels beat the New York Yankees 6-4 for their 19th victory in 26 games.

Rojas, in his second major league season, was one of the American League's top relievers before the spurt, but the Angels were a poverty-stricken crew until he really began dishing out the dividends on the $2,500 California paid for him.

During the spree, the Cuban right-hander has posted four of his seven victories and saved eight other games in 15 appearances in which he has given up one earned run in 27 innings.

Most of the other American League winners Sunday shied away from relief, except Boston as John Wyatt saved rookie Gary Waslewski's three-hit 2-1 victory over Kansas City.

Joe Sparma fired a six-hitter in Detroit's 3-0 triumph over the league leading Chicago White Sox, Baltimore rookie Bill Dillman blanked Cleveland 1-0 for 6-2-3 innings in a rain-shortened game, and Dean Chance and Jim Merritt pitched Minnesota to a 4-1, 6-1 doubleheader sweep over Washington.

In the National League, the Chicago Cubs beat Cincinnati 4-1, Philadelphia outslugged San Francisco 8-7, Houston defeated Los Angeles 5-1, the New York Mets stopped St. Louis 5-4 before losing 3-1, and Atlanta was rained out at Pittsburgh.

The Angels stood last in line—10 games back—in the AL before Rojas took them by the hand. Sunday's triumph moved them seven games from the front in sixth place, only 2½ games from second.

Rojas, who over-all has nine saves and a 1.65 earned run average in 65 2-3 innings, has appeared in 37 of California's 78 games.

Waslewski had a two-hitter going and led on Joe Foy's 11th homer in the eighth inning, but left in the ninth after another hit and a ground out. Wyatt retired the last two hitters to saddle Jim Hunter with the loss despite his three-hitter.

Sparma needed no help as he ran his record to 9-1 with his third shutout, cutting Chicago's first place lead over Detroit, Boston and Minnesota to 4½ games.

Mickey Stanley and Bill Freehan homered for three Detroit runs off Gary Peters, 10-4, who gave up only one other hit and struck out 11 in seven innings.

Dillman outduelled Sam McDowell in a battle of three-hitters. Chance, who has lost six times, allowed only five hits and struck out 12 as he became the league's first 11-game winner in Minnesota's opener before Merritt won his sixth game without a defeat by twirling a seven-hitter.

Chance lost his shutout on Ken McMullen's run-scoring single in the ninth inning, but Ted Uhlaender offset that with three runs batted in.

Merritt survived a rocky first inning when Frank Howard belted his 19th homer and the Senators loaded the bases with two out. The slim southpaw also broke a 1-1 tie with a second-inning single after Russ Nixon tied the score with a hit as the Twins won their fourth straight. END ADV

East Squad Faces Change In Lineup

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A favored East squad faced a possible lineup change—or the addition of a replacement player—today in preparation for Saturday night's All-American football game.

Billy Schorer, defensive tackle and starting linebacker for Georgia Tech the past three falls, suffered a freak injury in a dummy scrimmage Sunday and an examination was expected to determine his availability for the contest. If he is ruled out, the East is expected to add a replacement.

Schorer was injured near the close of Sunday's short workout. His cleats caught in the turf as he pivoted for a turn and his left knee popped loudly as he went down.

He was still on crutches hours later.

Schultz Wins

'B' Feature At Marshall

Steve Schultz, Sedalia, took his fifth feature race at Sportsman's Speedway, Marshall, in the first of two days of events on Sunday night. Approximately 1,800 fans gathered to see Tom Corbin, Carrollton, take the fast time of 17:23 for the "A" cars and George Lasoski, Dover, fast time for the "B" cars with 17:83.

"B" Trophy Dash, four laps: Roy Cary, Boonville, first; Glen Arnold, Sweet Springs, second; Monty McPherson, Sedalia, was third; and Frank Makings, fourth. Cary started outside on the first row and gained an early lead which he held through the entire race. This is his last trophy of the year according to C.M.R.A. rules. He was presented his trophy by Paula Melton of Marshall. Time: 1 min., 13:80.

"A" Trophy Dash, four laps. Junior Dietzel, Jamestown, was first; Jim Jenkins, Marshall, second; Tom Corbin, Carrollton, third; and Ray Lee Goodwin, Kansas City, fourth. Also winning his last trophy under the C.M.R.A. rules, Dietzel took the lead in the first lap. Miss Melton also presented the trophy to Dietzel. Time: 1 min., 12:12.

"B" Slow Heat, eight laps: Bill Bowlin, Carrollton, first; Mickey Whipkins, Carrollton, second; Jean Johnson, Boonville was third; Bob Thoman, Higginsville, fourth; and Gene Marcus, Marshall, fifth. This race was difficult in getting started due to spinouts in the No. 3 turn. The race was started three times. Whipkins led the race until the sixth lap when Bill Bowlin took over the lead. Time: 2 min., 33:80.

"B" Fast Heat, eight laps: Jay Lyle, Warrensburg, first; Jack Hunt, Windsor, second; Steve Schultz, Sedalia, third; Roy Cary, Boonville, fourth; Frank Makings, Marshall, fifth. In the sixth lap, No. 3 turn, Flea Adkins spun out in front of Monty McPherson. McPherson's radiator burst in the impact, throwing scalding water all over the car and driver. No injuries were reported. Lyle, driving a "B" car, had no difficulty getting and keeping the lead. No time.

"A" Slow Heat, eight laps: Harold Crombley, Carrollton, first; Jim Schottzauer, Marshall, second; Kenny Harper, Carrollton, third; Don Cooper, Sedalia, fourth; and Joe Knight, Sedalia, fifth. A three-car accident happened on the back straightaway in the first lap. There was no major damage reported. Crombley started in the pole position and ended the race the same place. Time: 2 min., 29:94.

"A" Fast Heat, eight laps: Jim Jenkins, Marshall, first; Marvin Gibson, Sedalia, second; Tom Corbin, Carrollton, third; Ray Lee Goodwin, Kansas City, fourth; and Dave Ferguson, of Odessa, fifth. Jenkins started in middle of the pack, but crossed the finish line first, closely followed by Gibson. Time: 2 min., 31:48.

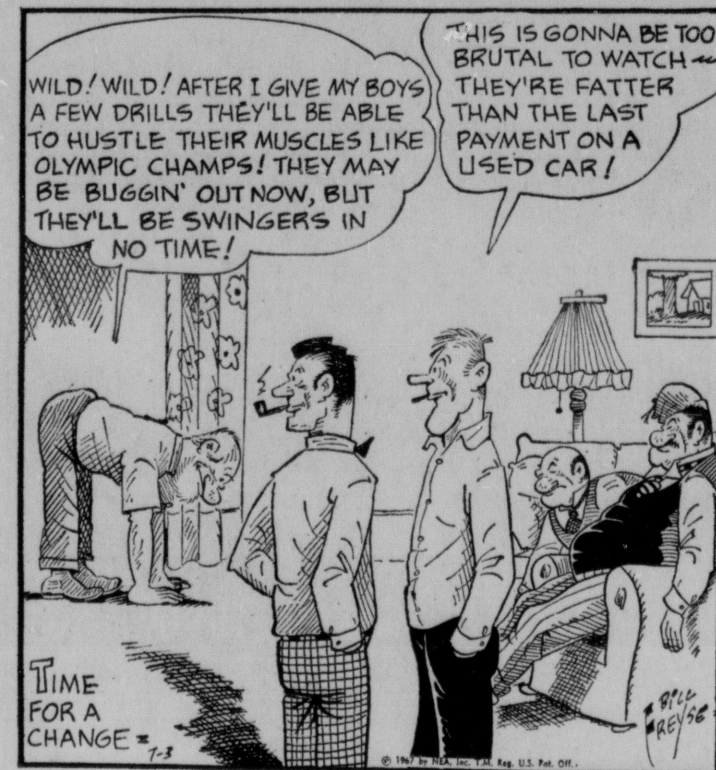

Late Model Stocks, ten laps: Marvin Weide, first; Larry Gilbert, second and Bob Shoemaker, third. In the sixth lap, Roth Craig came out of the No. 4 turn ramming into the retaining wall in front of the stands. The driver was unhurt, but his car was out of the race. Gibson started in third position and gained an early lead. No time.

"B" Feature, 20 laps. Steve Schultz, Sedalia, first; George Lasoski, Dover, second, Roy Cary, Boonville, third; Jay Lyle, Warrensburg, fourth; and Glen Arnold, Sweet Springs, fifth. The race was restarted in the 17th lap when Glen Arnold spun out in the middle of the No. 2 turn. Schultz started in the third position and gained his lead in the fourth lap. No time.

"A" Feature, 20 laps: Ray Lee Goodwin, Kansas City, first; Bill Ward, Carrollton, second; Tom Corbin, Carrollton, third; Marvin Gibson, Sedalia, fourth; and Don Cooper, Sedalia, fifth. This race had to be restarted three times, due to the spinouts in the first lap. Tom Corbin had seven feature wins in a row and that chain was broken by a tough fight. The top five cars were never separated more than a car's length during the entire race.

Casper Plays Role Of Invisible Man

MONTREAL (AP)—Billy Casper is the invisible man of golf. He was subjected to coast-to-coast television coverage in two nations—and no one noticed him until the last five minutes. But suddenly he was there, center stage in the high drama, on his knees and his arms raised in exultation—a birdie sank in the cup and pressure was on Art Wall, the greying, suddenly shaken veteran, who stumbled to a bogey.

And when Wall's five-foot putt curled two inches from the hole, the $200,000 Canadian Open Golf championship was tied and its $30,000 first prize still up for grabs.

"I had two things going for me on 18," said Casper, the two-time U.S. Open champ with the exotic diet. "I knew that if I made that putt I was in second all alone. And I knew that if I missed it — and the pressure would be on him — a playoff was there."

That's the way it worked out: the two tied at 279 with an 18-hole playoff today. Casper shot a 69 Sunday and Wall a 72.

The playoff starts at 2:15 p. m. EDT, and will be televised nationally in two countries, CBS-TV from 5-6 p. m., in the United States and CBC-TV from 4:30-6 p. m. in Canada.

Casper and Wall were one stroke ahead of Steve Reid, 71, Jack Nicklaus, 69, and Julius Boros, 68, all at 280. PGA champ Al Geiberger was alone at 281 after a 71. Grouped at 282 were Arnold Palmer, 70, Tommy Aaron, 70, and Gene Littler, 71.

Wall, a 44-year-old former Masters and Canadian Open champ who led the second and third rounds, had a two-stroke lead going into the rain-interrupted final round Sunday on the 6,600 yard, par 71 Montreal municipal course.

He was implacable and unperturbed as first Nicklaus, the chubby U.S. Open champ, and then Reid, a 30-year-old part-timer on the pro tour, made runs at him.

"I was five strokes back going to the 12th," said Casper. "Most players would have quit there. But I'm not made that way. I kept playing the best I could."

Casper was completely obscured in the Nicklaus-Reid charges.

"Pressure doesn't bother me," said the one time fat man, who lost 50 pounds on a diet of buffalo and bear steaks and blueberries. "In fact, I thrive on it."

Billy, probably one of the best golfers in the world but missing the publicity of Nicklaus and Palmer because of his lack of color, made up two of those five strokes on No. 12.

But still the attention was centered on Nicklaus and Reid, who were just finishing.

Casper and Wall each reached the green of the par five 18th in three. Billy with a 10-foot putt and Wall with a 20-footer. Art missed his, going five feet past the cup. Casper studied his, then stepped back and studied it again, before running it in. Wall missed his coming back.

Cardinals Split 2 Games With N.Y. Mets

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The St. Louis Cardinals split two games Sunday with the Mets in New York and dropped into a first-place tie with the onrushing Chicago Cubs. Steve Carlton's six-hitter won the second game 3-1 after the Cards blew the first one 5-4, a wild pitch sending home the winning run.

Kansas City made it 11 defeats in the last 14 games with a 2-1 loss to the Boston Red Sox, and it was obvious from personnel changes after the game that Manager Alvin Dark is counting on his more experienced men to pull the A's out of their slump.

"Our hitters are just in a slump, hitting line drives right at people and 400-foot outs," Dark said. "A lot of bad things happen to you at once when you're snake-bitten. We'll pull out of it."

The A's sent rookies Reggie Jackson and Dave Duncan back down to Birmingham and optioned right-hander Blue Moon Odom, a 20-year-old right-hander, to Vancouver for a month of hard work to regain his control.

At the same time, they brought Ken Suarez, a light-hitting catcher, and Allan Lewis, a pinch-running specialist, back up from Birmingham.

Neither move figures to beef up the attack, so it's evident the A's are going along with their still-young but more experienced men. Rookie second baseman John Donaldson is hitting .294 and staying in the lineup. Dick Green is well now but will be used mostly at third base.

Two weeks ago, on Monday morning, June 19, the A's were 31-32, just a half-game from fourth-place Boston and one game from third place. Now they are 34-43, fighting to keep out of the cellar, with last-place Washington coming here for a doubleheader Tuesday and a night game Wednesday.

Catfish Hunter, an All-Star game choice, pitched a three-hitter in defeat Sunday.

Rookie Gary Waslewski permitted one run in the first on Rick Monday's sacrifice fly, then shut the door until the ninth, when ex-A's fireman John Wyatt got the last two outs with the tying run on second.

Joe Foy's bases-empty home run off the scoreboard catwalk about 420 feet away beat Hunter in the eighth after the A's misfired on their scoring chances.

St. Louis scored all its runs in the second inning of the second game on the strength of four extra base hits. Steve Carlton struck out six in claiming his sixth victory of the season.

The Cardinals return to St. Louis today where Bob Gibson (9-6) was scheduled to pitch against the Cincinnati Reds who have named Milt Pappas (8-6) as their probable pitcher for the night contest.

Today the A's have an open date today.

New Miracle Is Working For Durocher

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

It's been 16 years between miracles for dapper Leo Durocher, but he's got a dandy going right now.

Durocher, who piloted the New York Giants to the 1951 pennant with a storybook finish, has his trusty volume out again and what's more, he's got all Chicago believing it.

Some 40,464 frantic fans packed Wrigley Field Sunday and watched the Cubs, who finished 10th last season, grab a share of first place with a 4-1 victory over Cincinnati on Ferguson Jenkins' three-hitter.

From last to first in half a season. Now how's that for a miracle?

In fact, for a few glorious hours, the Cubs, who haven't finished in the first division since finishing third in 1946, were actually in first place all by themselves. That was after the New York Mets nipped St. Louis 5-4 in the first game of a doubleheader.

But the Cardinals rebounded with a 3-1 victory in the nightcap that earned them a piece of the top spot. In other National League games Sunday, Philadelphia rallied for an 8-7 victory over San Francisco and Houston nipped Los Angeles 5-4. Atlanta's game at Pittsburgh was rained out.

Reasons For Victory Are Not Known

HOT SPRINGS, Va. (AP) — "I don't know why I won," said the new U.S. Women's Open golf champion, resplendent in aqua skirt and blue jacket with bemedaled lapels, "I think they helped me win."

"They" were the chastened professional golfers, and they knew just what raven-haired Catherine Lacoste of Paris meant in her modest little speech outside the clubhouse of the Cascades Course late Sunday afternoon.

In this 22nd U.S. Women's Open, the 22-year-old French mademoiselle had become not only the first amateur ever to win, but the first foreigner and the youngest player, as well. She won with a strong 294 — 10 over par for a tough, taxing course.

But she had help from even the best of a corps of proud professionals who many times in the Open's last two days had opportunities to win — and could not grasp them.

Beth Stone of Muskege, Okla., and Susie Maxwell of Oklahoma City came closest with 296s for the 72-hole grind. Each picked up five strokes in Sunday's final round with three-over pars 74s while Miss Lacoste was soaring to a 79.

Miss Stone and Miss Maxwell each collected $3,600 as the top-finishing pros.

Three pros who shot 297s — Murle Lindstrom of Ft. Wayne, Ind., with a final round 75; two-time champion Louise Suggs of Delray Beach, Fla., 73, and Sandra Haynie of Ft. Worth, Tex., 71 — each took home $1,033 for sharing fourth place.

The sturdily-built, exuberant Miss Lacoste, who had previous rounds of 71-70-74, was three over par on the front nine Sunday, then bogeyed the first five holes of the back nine and found herself in peril.

After the 14th, she was only one stroke ahead of Miss Suggs; after the 16th, one in front of Miss Stone.

Miss Suggs, however, demolished her own cause by double-bogeying the lake-fronted 16th. And, after bogeying the 16th, Miss Lacoste took care of Miss Stone's bid by rolling in a 10-foot putt for a birdie at the 17th.

Seconds after she strode from the 18th green, victory finally secured, Miss Lacoste hurried back to her motel room and telephoned her parents in St. Jean De Luz, France — onetime Davis Cup tennis great, Rene Lacoste, and his wife, Simone, herself a fine golfer.

"It was 11 o'clock and I waked them up," she said with a grin. "My father said, 'Bravo.' He sounded sleepy."

"But this was his 63rd birthday, you know, and the last thing he said to be before I left home was, 'You know what you can do for my birthday.' I said, 'Yes, win the Open.' So, you see, I did."

People In The News

ONEKAMA, Mich. (AP) — Rosella Gauthier, 91, was given a party Sunday, attended by most of her 13 children, 47 grandchildren, 141 great-grandchildren, and four great-great-grandchildren.

The affair had to be held at the county fair grounds, and, as one relative put it, "There still wasn't room enough for friends of the family."

LYONS, Mich. (AP) — Clifton Miller and his wife especially enjoyed their family dinner Sunday, because their guests were a French couple who cared for him in Nazi-occupied France after his plane was shot down during World War II.

"It's wonderful to have them here," said Miller, nodding at M. and Mme. Andre Marionval.

Miller's plane went down one night in June 1944. Burned and almost blinded, he crawled to a farmhouse. The farmer sent word to the French underground, and the Marionvals' two teen-agers took him to their home in the village of Creil.

Miller stayed in hiding with the family until Creil was liberated.

Miller, a mail carrier, said he hopes his French friends will stay a month: "After all, I stayed with them for three months."

PLYMOUTH, England (AP) — Sir Francis Chichester, 65-year-old round-the-world mariner, set off Sunday in his yacht Gipsy Moth IV for London, where he will be knighted Friday by Queen Elizabeth II.

Chichester had been under treatment at the Royal Naval Hospital for an ulcer since June 6 — eight days after sailing into Plymouth at the end of his solo 28,500-mile journey to Australia and back around Cape Horn.

The 350-mile sail to London will take the Gipsy Moth through the English Channel, the Strait of Dover and up the Thames.

In the American League, Cal-er from Washington 4-1 and 6-1 and Baltimore blanked Cleveland 1-0 in a game ended by rain after six innings.

fornia downed New York 6-4, Detroit shut out Chicago 3-0, Boston nipped Kansas City 2-1, Minnesota swept a doublehead-

The Chicago fans have a severe if premature case of pennant fever brought on by six straight victories and 13 triumphs in 14 starts. They gathered outside the clubhouse after Sunday's game and chanted, "We want Leo. We want Leo."

But Durocher wasn't having any.

"They're not going to get me out there," he said. "The only time I've seen it like this was when Bobby Thomson hit the homer to win the pennant for the Giants in 1951."

The fans roared everytime the scoreboard posted a Mets' run against St. Louis and when the 5-4 first game final went up, they cheered so loud and long that the Cubs game was delayed.

Jenkins, who won his 11th game, slammed a pair of hits and drove in a run. His reaction to the commotion?

"This winning becomes fun," he said. "The way we're going, we might even win the pennant."

The Mets cooperated beautifully in the first game, pushing across the winning run in the bottom of the ninth inning. Bud Harrelson carried it across when he singled, stole second and went to third on catcher John Romano's throwing error and scooted home on reliever Nelson Briles' wild pitch.

Ken Boyer doubled home one run and tied the game with an eighth inning homer for New York.

Steve Carlton hurled a six-hitter in the nightcap as the Cardinals climbed back to tie for the top spot. St. Louis bunched four extra base hits for all their runs in the second inning with Orlando Cepeda, Dave Ricketts and Carlton smashing doubles and Julian Javier whacking a triple.

Johnny Callison capped a Philadelphia comeback with a two-out double that chased across the tying and winning runs in the bottom of the ninth against San Francisco.

Callison drove in three runs with three hits and scored twice as Philadelphia wiped out a 7-2 Giant bulge with six runs in the last two innings.

Jim Hart drove in three runs with three hits as five Philadelphia errors led to five unearned runs for the Giants.

Ron Davis squeezed Jimmy Wynn across with the winning run with two out and the bases loaded in the bottom of the ninth inning as Houston nipped the Dodgers.

Wood Engraver Dies At Russell, Kan.

RUSSELL, Kan. (AP) — E. Hubert Deines, 73, who was famous for his wood engravings, died Sunday at the Russell city hospital where he had been a patient.

Deines studied art at the Kansas City Art Institute and the Julian Art Academy in Paris, France. He was a staff artist on the Kansas City Star from 1929 to 1932. He also established an art studio in the Westport district of Kansas City.

Survivors include three brothers, who own and operate the Deines Brothers Funeral Home in Russell, and five sisters. He had lived in Russell for 15 years.

Cinderella's Slipper
Was Really Made of Fur

Tell Porter
Story With Great Detail

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Cole Porter was a curious figure—a Midwesterner whose songs bespoke the sophistication of his era, an immense success who fretted because critics were always saying his scores were "not up to his standard."

The Porter story is told with painstaking detail in a new biography, "The Life That Late He Led" by George Eels, a magazine writer and friend of the composer in his later years. The biographer had access to Porter's letters and papers and hence provides a more intimate view of him than has yet been seen.

Like all official biographies, this one suffers from a loss of objectivity. But this is offset by the wealth of detail which would not be available to unofficial biographers.

I had only one encounter with Porter, who was not fond of interviews. While MGM was filming "Kiss Me Kate," he consented to talk a bit about his life and works.

"Can-Can" had recently opened on Broadway, and Porter was still smarting over the reviews.

"The critics said the score was not up to my usual standard," he said. "They have been saying that since my second show." Time has proved how wrong critics can be, since "Can-Can" produced such great songs as "C'est Magnifique," "Allez-Vous-en," "I Love Paris" and "It's All Right with Me."

Even when Porter wrote his greatest score—"Kiss Me Kate," he did not win universal acclaim.

Most of the reviews were raves, but Harold Clurman in the Saturday Review of Literature declared these were not Porter's best songs "by a long shot."

Although he was wealthy through his own family and his wife's fortune, Porter learned the capacity for hard work. His output was prolific, and a listing of his shows and songs occupies a 40-page appendix in "The Life That Late He Led." They range from "The Song of the Birds," written in 1901 when he was 10 to a television special called "Aladdin" in 1958, five years before his death.

Always the Porter work had a high degree of polish and proficiency. That was no accident. He would write four or five versions of a song before it would

It has been estimated that if the nation's 91 million drivers had to undergo a basic medical and mental examination to prove their fitness, 1½ million would fail. But in 24 states now it is possible to renew a license by mail, without any kind of test.

American women appear to be postponing childbearing a bit. In the last decade the age at which most wives have their first child has risen from 19 to 20.

A reader writes to ask, "Did you know that Truman Capote's middle name is Strechiffuss?" No, and if it is, Truman forgot to tell it to "Who's Who in America," which lists him as having only a first and last name.

No cataclysm of nature strikes more terror in man than earthquakes, but they have taken a toll of only about 1,500 lives in the United States since the country was settled, according to the National Geographic Society. Nearly half of them died in the 1906 San Francisco qu and fire.

For "Gay Divorce" he wrote the music to a love song for Fred Astaire but couldn't lick the lyrics. The inspiration came on a weekend in the country when his hostess, Mrs. Vincent Astor, complained the "drip, drip, drip" of the raindrops was driving her crazy.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
WASHINGTON (AP) — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara says the absence of "sensible" gun-control laws is unreasonable and "an open and permanent invitation to violence and disorder."

McNamara, in a letter released Sunday by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., endorsed administration bills to limit interstate traffic in guns. Kennedy advocates this legislation.

The defense chief and Kennedy exchanged letters over the senator's proposal that the Defense Department cancel the National Matches at Camp Perry, Ohio, which the department usually conducts in cooperation with the National Rifle Association.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Transportation Secretary Alan S. Boyd says communities with heavy air traffic which delay improvements of airports in hopes the federal government will provide most of the money are engaged in "wishful thinking."

Boyd said the continuing improvements in aviation, such as supersonic transports and other huge jets capable of carrying 500 passengers, will require an enormous expansion of airport facilities.

Boyd spoke Sunday on ABC's

"Issues and Answers."

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Public Health Service today asked police across the nation to report whether seat belts were in use at the time of traffic accidents.

Dr. Richard E. Marland, chief of the service's injury control program, said he also asked law enforcement agencies to make such information available to news media.

"Broadcasting and publication of a statement on seat belt use in stories of auto accidents would show by example how seat belts save lives and reduce the severity of injuries," he said.

The Washington Post reports the Navy is working on a remote control mining device for use by submarines in mining enemy harbors without going near the harbors. The mines would be carried within torpedo-like cases dispatched from and guided by the subs.
